FUR SHUI®

An Introduction to Animal Feng Shui

Written and Illustrated by Paula Brown

Fur Shui® went “National” June 25, 2008! CBS correspondent Debbye Turner’s interview brought Fur Shui to national TV with fun and lots of good things to say about helping and using your animal’s as well as your environment’s chi or energy.

Whether you have a dog, cat, bird, or goldfish, you and your pet reverberate with chi, the mystic flow of life. Find out all about the treasure chest of wonderful energy already existing in your and your animal’s life spaces by taking a look at Fur Shui! This is an “animal’s point of view” of how energy works in you, them and your environment. Help get more balance, love and joy into your life as well as your fur friend’s life by becoming a Fur Shui Practitioner. It’s fun and easy, just follow the maps and guides in Fur Shui.

Can your cat help you find the love of your life? Can your dog bring you a better job? Our animals do so much for us, but they can help us in ways you may have never imagined. With over 74.8 million dog owners and 90 million cat owners in this country, that's a lot of help! Fur Shui®, An Introduction to Animal Feng Shui, offers feng shui techniques for our pets to help balance our home and lives, show our love to our pet and receive love from our pet in a whole new way.

Paula Brown, an animal communicator and feng shui practitioner, created Fur Shui (Now 2nd Edition / Amazon) to provide pet lover's with a feng shui approach to improving both their and their pet's health, happiness and overall well-being. After going into pets' spaces in their home and finding out where they were in or out of balance, relaxed, comfortable or uncomfortable, she began suggesting simple feng shui cures. These suggestions benefited both the animal and the pet parent.

If its love you're looking for, Paula suggests putting a pink (or maroon for guys) sweater on your fur friend when taking them for a walk. Or, heat up your love (both for you and them!) by placing their pink or maroon bed in the relationship section of your home. If you want a promotion, looking for a new job, or just strengthening your career path, you could place your dog's "black" collar at the front door, along with their water dish. Black is the career color and water is this life space "element". By doing this, you bring your animal's powerful energy into the front door space or entrance of your house where your career "chi" or energy resides, coming to help and boost your career efforts.

Below are some easy to follow Fur Shui tips:

FUR SHUI TIPS

CREATE A HEALTHY AND HAPPY FUR SHUI HOME FOR YOUR PET AND YOURSELF

Fur Shui author Paula Brown explains that “chi” or energy patterns reside everywhere in your home, work, and life spaces. You can move your and your pet’s energy in amazing ways by using a Chinese Bagua that outlines where and what the spaces in your life contain. The Bagua has 9 areas that represent different aspects of your and your pet’s life. The 9 areas, each section individually called a gua, are: career, travel/helpful people, creativity/children, love/relationships, fame, prosperity/wealth, family/community, skills/knowledge and health. Following the bagua map below, here are just a few examples of Brown’s quick, easy to follow tips to enhance your and your furry friends’ lives:

LOVE/RELATIONSHIP– If you want to attract that special someone, put a nice pink sweater (or maroon with gold trim for guys) on your pooch and take a walk. Place a pink pet blanket bed in the relationship corner of your home (please refer to below bagua map for physical location) to add some love fire chi for your pets and yourself.

PROSPERITY/WEALTH – Place something purple in this gua corner (also referring to map below) of your home or workplace along with 9 goldfish (Only room for one? A photo or painting of 9 will do as well!). Or place a small pouch containing purple crystals, gems or stones on your pet’s collar to attract wealth.

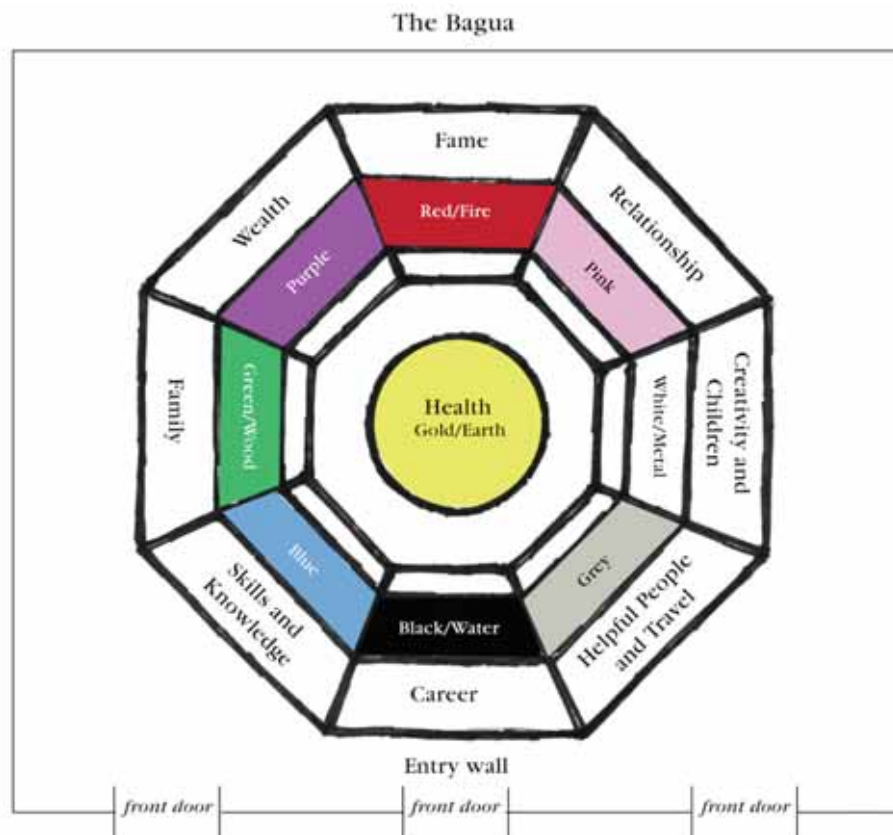

HEALTH – If you and/or your fur friend need a health boost, place them on a yellow or gold covered cushion in the center of your home (as well as give them a healthy chew toy or favorite toy to add to their contentment). Earth is the element of the health gua so let them dig, bury, run and roll in the rich earth to keep good health in your home.

CAREER – Career energy (or chi) is at your front door, the color is black and the element is water. Hang your dog’s black leash at the front door to keep your and your dog’s job (which might be as simple as being a watch dog) secure and thriving. Wash your pet out on your front porch where you’ll give your pal a shower of great chi and work solutions may just pop into your head.

TRAVEL/HELPFUL PEOPLE – The color here is grey, so when traveling with your pet in your car or elsewhere, add some grey to your pet’s wardrobe, car pillow or animal carrier to keep your travels safe and happy.

CREATIVITY/CHILDREN – Metal is the element for creativity. Place some shiny silver ROUND charms on their collars or cages to get your and their creativity flowing. This will also bring out your pet’s playful side.

SKILLS/KNOWLEDGE – Work on your pet’s tricks in the skills/knowledge gua area of your home or room add a blue ribbon to them or this space to sharpen their skills.
